FRECKLES

October, Worst Month for This Trouble
How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody is freckled after the outdoor life of summer, but happily there is also a cure for those ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get one ounce of Othine—double strength from Potter Drug Co., and apply a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they will stay all winter and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Money back if it fails.

harbor. They did not fine the captain or some of the hired men, but the owner. The paper says that "stipendiary" magistrate Jay did it, whatever a "stipendiary" is. They have lots of Indians here that are American, but made under another name. They say these articles have not been patented in Canada, hence they can be made by Canadians and Englishmen with impunity. In the newspaper office here—they call it the Daily Colonial—I saw a number of small typewriters. The Herald in the early days had a lot of them and they were called Wellingtons—but up here they bear the name Empire. One of the chief men of the editorial department is a Canadian and a pleasant young fellow, who has red hair and smokes a meerschaum pipe that he didn't have to smuggle over from Juneau, and he goes down to the wharf every time a boat comes in but four and a half hours by steamer from Seattle, and it is not necessary to get seasick to make the journey, either. Down in the business office they have a young man who has never been further away from home than Vancouver and didn't know that El Paso had eight railroads, the second largest smelter in the world, 25 miles of paved streets, 35 miles of street cars and a 12-story Mills building. Charlie Kinne and Jack Harper will have to ship some of those chamber of commerce booklets up this way and start some Victoria travel to the sunny southwest.

Reached by Boat Only.

Victoria is on an island, completely isolated from everybody else except by steamer connections, but there are enough of these to keep the people busy if they go down to the wharf every time a boat comes in or went out—which they don't do. It is one of the most pleasing water trips anybody ever made, into this place from either Vancouver or Seattle. Many people get their tickets to Vancouver, which is possible, even from El Paso. If Jim Morrison is in the right mood, and then come down to Victoria and go on to Seattle by boat. The boats run inside the sound with the coast in sight practically all the time and it never gets rough.

To the El Pasoans who have made the trip from San Pedro to Catalina Island in California and have vowed that they would never again go on water unless it was frozen and they could walk on it, I recommend this trip to put them in a good humor again with the sea. The trip is almost as smooth as glass in these big steamers over 200 feet long and besides retaining all that was carried aboard in the way of consumed food, a passenger soon gets so hungry from the salt sea air that he wonders how the company can make anything in giving him such a meal as is served in the dining saloon for a dollar. The boats are very fine and anybody that is lazy can get a stateroom all the way for a dollar. The passengers gather in the parlors and sing and play the piano or stand on the deck and the time goes so fast that the officers or equally gorgeous porters and waiters and give each other misanthropy.

Lots of Customs Officers.

There are as many customs officers as at El Paso at either the American or the Canadian end of the journey, but they do their work fast and the American officers look for nothing smaller than Irish lace or French silks, which they don't often find because they look so rapidly when a girl is opened. Little things like French opera glasses that sell in the United States for $5 and in Victoria for $5 and sometimes cheaper, pass muster as they might have been taken to Canada to use in advertising the scenery, you know. The officers have no trouble with men about bringing back cigars, for the cigars here are as high as in the United States, which is not surprising, since the duty on them is 10 cents a box and Cuba and pay duty, both import and export. It takes a quarter to get two good cigars here, but the king's picture on the wrapper or maybe the picture of the Princess Victoria or Princess Charlotte, which they are, and the Princesses Charlotte and Victoria, in this instance, are not girls, but the ships that handle part of the traffic into and out of Victoria.

In Seattle the passengers pass to the right in getting into the boats and the men loading the freight do the same, but when they get up here, they walk in and out like the street cars and the cabs operate on the left. It's a wonder the crews don't get stuck in the middle some times.

Some Victoria Features.

The pavement here is vitrified brick and blocks and all of the streets are clean, but narrow. The parliament buildings occupy a position directly in front of the quays and are three stories in height, of blue-gray sandstone, with a dome on the central building that reaches higher than the dome of the parliament building. On the other side of the quay is the Hotel Empress, a mammoth structure that is finer than anything I have seen in Seattle, Spokane or Denver. And nearby is the postoffice, of the same stone as the parliament building. The parliament building and the hotel are surrounded by beautiful parks, sown in clover, with myriads of flower beds full of flowers, and many handsome trees, mostly maple, which is the official tree of the Dominion. The leaf is worn as an emblem of loyalty and is made in all manner of jewelry. The park surrounding the parliament building is also cluttered up with some tombstones, as an American tourist said, monuments to men who have done some service for their country, most of them Sir Somers or Other and few of Cebb and his proteges, William Jennings Bryan, would say.

Business Men Active In the Connecticut Campaign

CHARLES A. GOODWIN,
Republican Nominee.

JUDGE SIMEON E. BALDWIN,
Democratic Nominee.

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 20.—The gubernatorial situation in Connecticut is an extremely perplexing and complicated one. On many sides, particularly in the larger cities, such as New Haven, Bridgeport, Hartford and Waterbury, the sentiment and opinion seems to be among shrewd politicians, that for the first time in 16 years Republican supremacy is seriously threatened. Charles A. Goodwin is the Republican nominee. Judge Simeon E. Baldwin is the Democratic standard bearer. Mr. Goodwin is a young man, popular in his home city, Hartford. He was chosen executive secretary by the late governor George L. Lilley. To many, however, his nomination proved a complete surprise, for his opponent, Everett J. Lake, also of Hartford, was conceded the nomination in many places, up to the night before the convention.

A notable feature of the campaign has been the great activity of the State Business Men's association on behalf of a public utilities bill. This is the main issue of the campaign. Both party platforms have declared for a strong commission. Candidate Goodwin has come out flat-footedly in favor of a bill with "teeth," while Judge Baldwin's attitude upon this question has been somewhat uncertain.

Both party platforms have declared for a strong commission. Candidate Goodwin has come out flat-footedly in favor of a bill with "teeth," while Judge Baldwin's attitude upon this question has been somewhat uncertain.

Baldwin Leads in Cities.
In the larger cities, it is admitted on all sides that Judge Baldwin appears a winner. This sentiment does not exist, however, in the small country towns, and the question whether or not Judge Baldwin can overcome the 15,000 majority given the late governor Lilley is one that invites close consideration.

There can be no question but there is soreness in the Republican ranks, especially in Hartford, New Haven and Bridgeport. There is the great dissatisfaction over the manner in which the nomination was won by the Goodwin forces.

At the present writing it does look as though the Democratic ticket, or at least the head of the ticket, had an equal chance of being elected as the Republican.

Republicans Had It Week Ago.
It is confidently asserted that could the election have been held a week after the Republican nominations, Judge Baldwin would have been swept into office. For the first time since Luzon B. Morris of New Haven was elected governor in 1892, the Democrats have spruced up and are now figuring upon a win for Judge Baldwin, at least.

It is acknowledged in all parts of the state that the Socialist candidate, young Robert Hunter, will poll a big vote. It is figured that he will gain considerable strength from disgruntled Republicans who were Lake adherents. At least this is the basis of the strength allowed by the Republicans. It is also calculated that the radical element of the Democratic party will cut Baldwin.

Claim Democrats Lukewarm.
On the other hand they claim that the rank and file of the Democratic party cannot and will not warm up to Judge Baldwin because of his cool and calm judicial bearing and age.

A. & M. STUDENTS ELECT AN EDITOR

Girls Candidates for Place at Mesilla Park; McFie Hall Demolished.

Agricultural College, N. M., Oct. 20.—A meeting of the student body was called for the purpose of considering the resignation of Sam Bauman, editor of the Roundup, and for the purpose of nominating new candidates. Mr. Bauman's resignation was accepted, his cause for resigning being that he did not have the necessary time to spare to edit the paper.

Nominations were opened and, contrary to former customs at the college, girls as well as boys were nominated. No doubt some of the nominees will withdraw before the election comes off. Those nominated are Misses Edna Anderson, Frances Hinds, Ruth Brainerd and Bertha Mayer, and Wm. Knorr and Owen Kruger.

Nominations for yell leader were made before the meeting adjourned. The speaker did not arrive for general assembly, but Prof. Miller announced some of the near future speakers. They will be mayor Young of Las Cruces, Francis E. Lester, formerly professor in stenography here, and Gen. B. J. Villan.

Rev. Mr. Rorex of the Baptist church in Las Cruces gave an interesting talk to the Y. M. C. A. members in the social room of the building.

The Las Cruces Lumber company contracted to move the ruins of McFie hall. The walls have been torn down and in a short time all the debris will be moved.

The civil engineering department has been fitting up a small room in the science hall for the many new surveying instruments received by the department during the last month.

TULAROSA COMPANY COMPLETES MILL

Mines Have Provided Rich Ore Heretofore; Extensive Developments.

The big concentrating mill of the Tularosa Copper company, is now crushing and concentrating.

Discovery of Mine.
Back in the '70's the Tularosa Copper company's mineral ranch and land was located. The property is situated at an elevation of about 6000 feet, near the headwaters of the Tularosa river, 12 miles northwesterly from the town of Tularosa, N. M., on the El Paso and Southwestern railroad, 99 miles north of El Paso.

Little work was done on the property for many years after the discovery of the mine. The property was held by the pioneers who were kept busy holding their own against cattle rustlers and Apache Indians, but finally about $10,000 worth of ore was sorted, cobbled and shipped.

Early Profits.
In 1905, F. P. Kern and George B. Best and associates took over the property. A 25-ton plant was installed and shipments of concentrates commenced to the Phelps-Dodge smelter, at Douglas, Ariz. During 1906-7, when copper was soaring, settlements were made to these operators, at a market of 25 cents a pound. Returns exceeded $40,000 net.

H. Vincent Wallace, now at El Paso, made specifications for a new mill plant with the result that the company today has a two mile ditch, a flume, concrete penstock and a complete concentrating plant. A. F. Hazeltine, now in charge of the construction and mill management, was closely associated in all the experiments at Ray, Ariz., on the same kind of ore.

The first unit of the mill is completed with a crushing capacity of from 240 to 300 tons and a concentrator of 150 tons per day.

The preliminary test run started September 8, and with a few stops for a few minor repairs, has continued running steadily ever since.

the "ball players' friend." He gained the sobriquet by his habit, when a National league manager, of signing young players to minor league contracts to give them a record of having once been in fast company. This record gave many a struggling youngster a boost that helped him for years afterward. But McCloskey had another reputation. It was that of being able and willing to whip anybody on his team. When a man became unduly rebellious and thought he was the whole thing, McCloskey would sorrowfully but vigorously pound discipline into him until the refractory athlete cried quits and acknowledged that McCloskey was boss. Ed Barrow, the former Indianapolis manager, was of the McCloskey ilk, and never hesitated to attempt primitive and personal correction of players who forgot that he was the kingpin of the outfit.

GRANT COUNTY ROADS ARE BEING REPAIRED

Convicts Are Being Worked on Some of the Roads; Much Heavy Freight—Indians at Lordsburg.

Silver City, N. M., Oct. 20.—A number of Indians are said to be camping in the mountains near Lordsburg, in the vicinity of Dog canyon. A number of persons have seen the Indians. Just what is the object or how many Indians there are in Dog canyon and the nearby mountains has not been ascertained, but some fears are being expressed by the ranchers near that section as well as by the people of Lordsburg, who fear that the presence of these Indians bodes no good. It is supposed they are escapes from the Arizona reservations and that some depredations may be committed by them. So far as learned, they have been quietly camping in the canyon. During the present fair weather the three road overseers of this county are making fine progress in repairing and working the county roads. For example, the overseer of the district including this city, has just completed the needed repairs upon 12 miles of road leading into the Burro mountains by the Bell ranch, known as the Leober. Considerable work is being done on the Pinos Altos road, which now becomes quite necessary, because of the large travel over the road since the revival of mining in this district. It is a difficult matter to keep the mountain roads leading into the various mining districts in good repair, where there is so much heavy freight being done. The county is divided into three districts and all are very large, but there is a strong effort being made to get the roads in condition before the winter weather. Good progress is also being made by the convicts on the Silver City-Mogollon road and the most difficult grading will be completed on the Mogollon end before winter.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitive modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that it makes a dash to print in every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.
